PUBLIC ART IN THE CITY OF ADELAIDE

Great and creative cities acknowledge the cultural, social and economic value of art in public places.

Adelaide has a rich heritage of commemorative monuments in addition to the growing collection of contemporary works of art located throughout the City and Park Lands as well as integrated within buildings.

This guide highlights selected significant historical and contemporary artworks in the City of Adelaide.

Adelaide is a fantastic city to explore by foot or alternatively take advantage of the free City Connector bus, servicing the City and North Adelaide. It is also a great city to experience by bike with a network of dedicated bike lanes, shared use paths, and the Adelaide City Bike Art Trail comprising large-scale sculptural artworks that either sit alongside or incorporate a public bike rack.

Adelaide City Council, the South Australian Government, private developers and business operators all play a role in the commissioning of public artworks. For more information about public art in the City of Adelaide, please visit:
